2023 Fall Favorite Things - Textiles + Wallcoverings Overview

Like a song on repeat, the Brentano Design Studio's latest collection is a compilation of patterns and textures that bring to life their hearts' desire. Commemorating the design team's revered colorwork and extensive artistic expertise, the collection is a celebration of color and design. A fun and challenging mash up of textiles, Favorite Things features useable anchor fabrics, painterly wonders, and nostalgic throwbacks.

Brentano's most sustainable collection yet, Favorite Things is the first to feature a PFAS-Free Stain Repellent. With eyes on the future, the Brentano Design Studio looks to create a more environmentally friendly world that will remain sustainable and safe for generations to come. While many of the new offerings showcase PFAS-Free Stain Repellent or recycled content, they still uphold Brentano's ethos of beauty and performance. "It is our mission to maintain a culture that seeks alternate constructions/finishes and reaches for a higher quality product that uses sustainable manufacturing practices from our designers and mills," states Founder Iris Wang. "This collection is a grouping of fabrics that utilize recycled fibers, can be used for LEED points, and contain less chemicals than those before it. I'm proud to continue to push boundaries with our designs and I will continue to seek out products and practices that will enhance our daily lives in a healthy and sustainable way."

In addition to offering standard products with PFAS-Free Stain Repellent, Brentano will be expanding its sustainable options by offering more pre-approved PFAS-Free Stain Repellent finishing via cut yardage. Brentano takes pride in its pre-approved finishing programs like that of our Tri-sistant finishing and looks forward to growing the program with PFAS-Free Stain Repellent options. Brentano is also investigating past products and collecting supplier statements for fabrics that do not contain intentionally added PFAS chemicals.

Featuring 14 textiles and one wallcovering, Favorite Things is a collection representing the many ways the Brentano Design Studio sets itself apart. Whether through novelty yarns, brilliant and bold pattern work, or distinct performance textiles, the design team's diligent and focused pursuit of their craft and creating meaningful and luxurious fabrics is on full display.

4373 Laelia

Capturing the delicate and unique characteristics of orchid leaves, Laelia is an abstract textile pattern with varying shapes.
